HEALTH & SAFETY DOCUMENTATION

Clear, precise and accurate documentation can save lives. I-Doc offer to research and analyse client's projects and products to ensure that all installation, operating and maintenance information relating to that project/product includes all the necessary and mandatory safety instructions.

Our experience in operating a wide range of systems and equipments and in preparing technical information to support those systems/equipments enables us to produce Health and Safety documentation which:

- Identifies hazardous substances/dangerous voltages etc
- Warns of the consequences which could result from mishandling or incorrect operation
- Details any remedial actions required
- Recommends safe working practises and procedures

Industry in general requires this service in one form or another, our experience to date includes:

- Aerospace
- Marine Engineering
- Defence Electronics
- Pharmaceuticals
- Petro-chemicals
- Telecommunications
- Power Generation (Conventional and Nuclear)
- Transport

The services offered are tailored to meet the individual requirement of our clients, services that achieve targets within budget for industry.
